As National Library Week Honorary Chair Molly Shannon says, 'Libraries are places where communities connect—to things like broadband, computers, programs and classes, books, movies, video games, and more.' During National Library Week 2022, the ALA is asking you to share the connections you've made thanks to your library. Did you find a great book? Get access to computers? Attend a great program or storytime? Did you make new friends at the library's book club? If you love your library, say it loud and proud to help your libraries secure much-needed funding and remind hardworking library staff that their efforts are appreciated. Participating in the #MyLibrary promotion is a quick, easy way to help your library thrive!
