Check Out Pulitzer Prize-Winner Tracy K. Smith's Library Visit on YouTube

In case you missed it, you can now watch the recording of our Summer Challenge Author Visit with Pulitzer Prize-winning poet Tracy K. Smith! During her visit to West Las Vegas Library, she shared her work and discussed how poetry and the creative imagination give us tools of insight and courage to deal with today's world. The video is available now on our Virtually Anywhere YouTube Channel until August 8.

Nutrition & School Success

Studies show that students who eat regular, healthy meals are less likely to be tired, are more attentive in class, and retain more information. To help keep kids healthy and engaged, the Library District has partnered with Three Square to provide FREE nutritious meals for kids & teens up to age 18 at multiple branches starting August 8.

Discover Your Family History

For the first time, you can view records from the 1950 U.S. Census data, which were recently released by the National Archive and are FREE to library card holders through HeritageQuest. This information can help you discover how the Great Depression, World War II, and the start of the Baby Boom affected your family. The library also offers FREE library versions of other popular and effective genealogy services such as Ancestry.com.

For a deeper dive into your family tree, explore the FREE services from the Las Vegas Family Search Center on August 3 from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. at the East Las Vegas Library. The center offers one-on-one assistance, computers and equipment to convert old media types such as photos, tapes, slides, and film to digital formats, and free software to record family trees, memories, and stories.

Free Homework Help with Teachers in Libraries Program

Start the school year off right! Staffed by Clark County School District teachers, this drop-in service is available to help students complete their homework or provide some extra instruction on a variety of subjects. Tutoring begins August 8 at nine library branches and is available Monday through Thursday from 4 p.m. – 6 p.m. No appointment needed. Check our Homework Help web page for locations and more information.
